The Digitizing Immigrant Letters Project
The Immigration History Research Center Archives in the University of Minnesota Libraries (IHRCA, or IHRC Archives) is a renowned archives and library for the study of immigration, ethnicity, and race.
The Digitizing Immigrant Letters Project aims to make available on-line letters from the IHRC Archives and other collections (private individuals, partner institutions) that were written between 1850 and 1970 both by immigrants (the so-called “America letters”) and to immigrants (“homeland letters”).
